Partnership right along your value-add chain

Know-how transfer

We believe that know-how transfer at the outset is indispensable in the development of new models. It generates the stimulus for new developments, enabling us to work together on creating products which are optimized in terms of both quality and costs.

Quality partnership

For us, quality partnership means strict quality assessments at the procurement stage for the materials to be used and permanent quality control before, during and after the production process.

Just-in-time

In close consultation with you we can organize production-synchronous deliveries to your operations. Our aim is to meet your requirements in terms of optimum delivery quantities and times, and form and frequency of supply.

Sales cooperation

If required we can offer contract manufacturing products, ready packaged with joining parts, along with barcode labels to your specifications, even for very short notice requisition deliveries.
